In this unit, students analyse how characteristics and properties of food determine preparation techniques and presentation when designing solutions for healthy eating. They apply design thinking as they develop a savoury meal that fuses elements from a minimum of two cultures, and explore how social, ethical and environmental issues influence the design of a food product to create preferred futures for the local community.	In this unit, students analyse ways to produce designed solutions through selecting and combining characteristics and properties of materials, systems, components, tools and equipment. They will apply design thinking as they develop a solution to protect a valued item from damage. They will explore factors, including sustainability, that impact on designs that meet community needs and explain the contribution of design and technology innovations and enterprise to society.	In this unit, students investigate, generate, produce and evaluate high quality food products to be sold at a pop-up market stall event. They apply design thinking as they develop two cost effective food products that reflect popular food trends, and explore how social, economic and environmental issues influence the design of a food product to meet the needs for the local school community.	In this unit, students investigate, generate, produce and evaluate high quality food products to be sold at a pop-up market stall event.
